About Town

And Country By IIMOTHEUS T.

You may know Boots or maybe you don't. Several years ago I wrote a column about him.

In that narration, I told about Boots sleeping in the back part of the auto belonging to his master, Bill Sandage, local painter.

The dog, a short-legged dog, chiefly black but with all feet white, a white tip of tail, two white spots on back and one under neck, with short hair, used to sleep regularly in Bill's car.

Then Bill traded this car in on a new one and Boots-he got his name from his four white feet went down to Humm Motor Co., where Bill had traded, and continued to sleep in the back of the car time after time.

And Boots went on almost all of Bill's painting jobs with him. If you'd see Boots, you'd know Bill was painting somewhere around close

Boots has been missing a week and a half now and the Sandages are concerned. They want their Faubus Not Included dog back very much. If anybody has seen Boots (and he'll perk up if you call out his name) call the Bill Sandage residence.

Miss LaNell Gwin, George Jerry Hensley, Exchange Vows

Miss LaNell Gwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gwin, 1204 South Ledford street, Harrisburg, and George Jerry Hensley, son of Mrs. Ruth Hensley and the late George Hensley, were married in the First Baptist church at 2 o'clock Sept. 15. The Rev. R. J. Morman performed the double ring ceremony before the church altar, decorated with a bridal arch entwined with greenery and gladioli, and tall candelabras, bearing lighted tap-

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a ballerina length wedding gown of nylon lace and net, fashioned with a strapless bodice of gathered net and a bouffant skirt made of rows of tiny ruffles under an overskirt of nylon lace, designed with four points to the hemline. The jacket of matching lace was long sleeved and closed below a rolled collar with a row of covered buttons. Her lace bordered veil of illusion was secured with a headdress of pearls, sequins and beads. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and baby breath, centered with a white orchid. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Judy Belt, close friend of the bride, served as her maid of honor and wore a velvet dress of sapphire blue, full skirted and featuring a large collar. Her hat was of irridescent sequins in shades of blue and she wore light blue gloves and shoes. Her colonial bouquet was of white chrysanthemums and blue baby breath.

Candlelighters were Kenneth Ozment and John Thad Gaskins. Harry Gene Moore, Ray Reinhardt, Floyd Jones, all of Harrisburg, and Kenneth Grovant of Jackson, Mich., ding included Mrs. Donald R.

There was a reception in the education building of the church, immediately following the wedding The three tiered wedding cake, supporting a bride and groom, held the place of honor at the bride's table. The table was covered with a gold cloth and brown leaves and pink and yellow roses surrounded the punchbowl. The punch was served by Mrs. Denita Jones, Hamilton, Ohio, sister of the bride, and the cake was served by Mrs. Bonita Moore, Carrier Mills, also a sister of the bride.

Hostesses at the reception were Mrs. J. T. Gaskins, Mrs. George E. Dalton, Mrs. Ernest Booten, Mrs. Elmer McCormack, Mrs. Carl Hatfield and Mrs. Ed Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Hensley are travelling in Florida on their honeymoon trip. They will be at home to their friends in Peoria, Oct. 1. The bride was graduated from

You may know Boots or maybe

wrote a column about him.

The dog, a short-legged dog, chiefly black but with all feet white, a white tip of tail, two white spots on back and one under neck, with short hair, used to sleep regularly in Bill's car.

Then Bill traded this car in on a new one and Boots-he got his name from his four white feet went down to Humm Motor Co., where Bill had traded, and continued to sleep in the back of the car time after time.

And Boots went on almost all of Bill's painting jobs with him. If you'd see Boots, you'd know Bill was painting somewhere

Boots has been missing a week and a half now and the Sandages are concerned. They want their Faubus Not Included dog back very much. If anybody has seen Boots (and he'll perk up if you call out his name) call the Bill Sandage residence.

Humane Society Appeals to Parents During Dog Week

This being National Dog Week, the Harrisburg Humane Society today directed an appeal to parents to keep their children's animals off the streets.

"Dogs in the street can cause the animals," a statement said.

"Dogs following children of times dash in front of cars to be killed or injured before their young master's eyes," it continued.

"Even the friendliest dog in the schoolyard in the excitement of play may bite or frighten small children.

"Dogs waiting at school are easy prey for dognappers.

"There is one cure and one cure allow the family dog to follow the children to school.

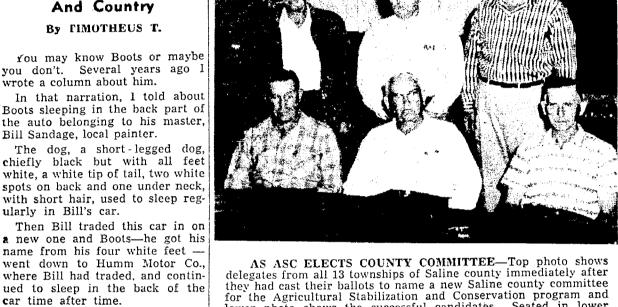

"Dogs should have identification tags, as this precaution will hasten his chance of being returned if lost. Nameplates with name and address can be secured at the Humane Shelter for 50 cents.

"This is the responsibility of the parents-not of the dog, the child. nor the school. Police and school authorities join in this plea to

Miss LaNell Gwin, George Jerry Hensley, Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. John Gwin, 1204 South Ledford street, Harrisburg, and George Jerry Hensley, son of Mrs. Ruth Hensley and the late George Hensley, were married in the First Baptist church at 2 o'clock Sept. 15. The Rev. R. J. Morman performed the double ring ceremony before the church altar, decorated with a bridal arch entwined with greenery and gladioli, and tall candelabras, bearing lighted tap-

The bride was given in marriage

She wore a ballerina length wedding gown of nylon lace and net, fashioned with a strapless bodice of gathered net and a bouffant skirt made of rows of tiny ruffles under an overskirt of nylon lace, designed with four points to the hemline. The jacket of matching lace was long sleeved and closed below a rolled collar with a row of covered buttons. Her lace bordered veil of illusion was secured with a headdress of pearls, sequins and beads. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and baby breath, centered with a white orchid. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Judy Belt, close friend of the bride, served as her maid of honor and wore a velvet dress of sapphire blue, full skirted and featuring a large collar. Her hat was of irridescent sequins in shades of blue and she wore light blue gloves and shoes. Her colonial bouquet was of white chrysanthemums and blue baby breath.

Charles Schrader, Richmond, Ind., cousin of the bridegroom, acted as his best man.

Candlelighters were Kenneth Ozment and John Thad Gaskins. Harry Gene Moore, Ray Reinhardt, Floyd Jones, all of Harrisburg, and Kenneth Grovant of Jackson, Mich., ding included Mrs. Donald R. were ushers.
